Canadians and tourists from as far as France and Australia enjoy a longer ski season because The Blue Mountain's Ski Resort has an advanced way of making snow. In fact, Blue Mountain boasts the largest snowmaking system in the country.

It has 420 guns that fire water droplets into the air, making artificial snow to cover the mountain. A dedicated team of workers, called groomers are employed to work the guns so that the mountain has a thick layer of snow all season long.

The ski park operates from 8 am to 6 pm daily, 7 days a week throughout the winter season. Skiers are strongly encouraged to purchase their entrance tickets online to avoid the long waiting time at the counters.

In spring, water from The Blue Mountain flows into a nearby lake. Visitors can then go to the mountain for trekking, camping and fishing in the summer. They can even stay a night in the Swiss-style chalets and enjoy the beautiful mountain view.

Fifteen lifts carry visitors up Blue Mountain to enjoy a spectacular view of the lake from a height of 720 feet in summer. In winter, these high-speed lifts are designed specially for skiers to maximize their time on the hill by getting them from base to peak in under 3 minutes. Non-skiers are not allowed on these high-speed lifts. Instead, they may board a sight-seeing gondola which will take them up Blue Mountain. The gondola, which resembles a large cable car, is in operation throughout the day. However, the lifts close for an hour at 12 noon daily for maintenance.

The gentle slopes of Blue Mountain make learning to ski a relaxing experience too. First-timers can enroll for ski lessons and hit the slopes quick enough to enjoy the thrill down the beginner slopes.

Peter Wiggins grew up in a poor family. He worked diligently at his day-time job as a teacher assistant in a private kindergarten and put in three more hours at night as a part-time cashier at a supermarket. By the time Peter trudged home every day, it was often close to midnight.

Peter worked very hard in order to support his aged parents who had retired as restroom cleaners with little savings left after putting Peter and his sister through school. Peter was the sole breadwinner as his sister, Beth, was often in poor health. 5

One day, as Peter was walking home from ACE Supermarket where he worked, he stumbled upon a small brown packet on the pavement. The package was slightly torn so he picked it up to examine it more closely. To his shock, it contained fifty-dollar bills. Peter knew it was not his to keep and that the owner might urgently need the money. 10

Without hesitation, Peter walked briskly to the nearest police station and handed it over to Sergeant Roberts who was the police officer on duty for that night. Surprised to see someone hand in such a large amount of cash untouched, the police sergeant said that Peter was indeed a role model others could look up to. 15

"It's nothing really...I was doing what anyone would have done," Peter blushed as the sergeant proceeded to ask for his name and contact number so that the owner could personally thank him. The next day, Peter received a call. The owner of the lost money was none other than Peter's boss at the ACE Supermarket! He had found out about Peter from Sergeant Roberts and had decided to promote Peter to the position of manager with a handsome increase in salary.
