Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

When Mousedeer realised that Tiger was ready to pounce on him, he trembled fearfully. He knew he would be in trouble if he did not think fast enough.

"Be prepared to meet your maker. I'm going to eat your juicy red meat shortly," sniggered Tiger.

5 "Oh Tiger, I hope you aren't starving now, because you can't eat me. I've been entrusted by King Solo to safeguard his most prized item," said Mousedeer while pointing to a bee nest dangling from a tree. Out of curiosity, Tiger asked what that was.

10 "That's the Gold Gong of King Solo. His Majesty likes to hear the sound of the gong when he's hunting in the jungle as it makes him happy. Anyone who hears it would feel likewise," replied Mousedeer.

15 Immediately, Tiger begged Mousedeer to let him hit at the gong. Mousedeer said, "For sparing my life, I'll allow you to hit the gong but I'm afraid of the wrath of His Majesty. Promise to strike the gong only when I'm far from here so that I can claim that I don't know who did it." Tiger promised to do so.

SECTION G: COMPREHENSION ( 4 X 2m = 8 marks )

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

It was a hot summer's night. It was so hot that a workman could not get to sleep. Instead, he lay on the bed with the window open, hoping that a little breeze might blow through. He was listening to the beautiful songs of a nightingale and he was charmed by its sweet singing.

5 The following night, the workman set a trap for the nightingale and he managed to capture it.

"Now that I have caught you," he cried, "you will have to sing to me, whenever I want."

10 However, the little bird held its chin up proudly and shook its head. "We nightingales never sing in a cage," it said.

"I have always heard that a nightingale on toast is a tasty snack," said the workman.

15 The nightingale quivered in terror and pleaded, "No, please don't eat me! Let me go free, and I will tell you three things that are worth far more than my little body."

The workman thought for a moment, but he did not see how he could lose to the bird. "All right," he shrugged, and he set the bird free.

20 Without hesitation, the nightingale flew up to the highest branch of a nearby tree. It looked down at the workman and tweeted, "I've three pieces of advice. Firstly, never believe a captive's promise. Secondly, keep what you have. And thirdly, don't feel sad for what you've lost and can't get back."

The workman hung his head low in shame. While he was wondering how he could have been tricked by a tiny bird, the nightingale flew away.
