"Mrs Ang, I need a new piece of paper. I don't like my drawing as there is a smudge!" cried Jane standing at the teacher's table. Jane showed Mrs Ang her artwork. The drawing reflected twenty minutes of hard work and Jane's artistic skills.

"You have spent so much time on it and it has many details. Why don't you try to think of a way to fix it?" Mrs Ang suggested. She added that mistakes were often a great way to improve one's artwork. 5

Jane looked down at her artwork and walked back to her seat, looking slightly frustrated. Her best friend, Alice, walked over and asked her what was wrong. "I wanted to draw a little girl walking her dog but I accidentally smudged some black paint near the dog's neck. Mrs Ang advised me to think of another way to fix it instead of redoing it," Jane explained. 10

Alice comforted Jane as she thought of possible ways to fix the smudged artwork. An idea struck her and she asked Jane, "Why don't you draw a collar on the black smudge?" Jane's face lit up upon hearing that. She agreed that it was an excellent idea and started drawing a collar using black ink to cover the smudge. After completing her artwork, she walked over to Mrs Ang's table and showed her the final masterpiece. 15

"Well done, Jane. You managed to make something good out of a mistake. I am so proud of you!" Mrs Ang praised Jane. Jane turned and winked at Alice.

Jon loved playing basketball but rarely had the chance to represent his team. During one co-curricular activity (CCA) practice session, Tim, the best player on the team, sprained his ankle. Coach Lee turned to Jon and asked if he could take Tim's place in the team. Jon's eyes widened with worry but Coach Lee gave him a gentle pat and said firmly, "I have confidence in you." 5

Coach Lee's words gave Jon the courage to play. On the court, Jon moved smoothly between the other players. When his teammate, Max, passed him the ball and gestured for him to score, his heart raced. As Jon had never scored a point before, the shot was unsuccessful. Coach Lee came up to him and showed him the proper shooting technique. He also encouraged Jon to practise as the 10 championship game was coming up. For the next two weeks, Jon practised hard.

Finally, the day of the championship game arrived and Jon was playing in the game. It was a close fight between the two teams. By the final quarter, the scoreboard showed that they were tied at forty points. With fifteen seconds left to go on the clock, Jon's team had the ball. Coach Lee quickly called for a time-out 15 and told the team to let Jon take the last shot. Afraid that he would miss, Jon shook his head. He muttered, "I do not want to let the team down."

"You can do it, Jon!" Coach Lee encouraged. Jon's heart pounded as he nodded. When the referee's sharp whistle pierced the air, both teams returned to the court. Jon dribbled the ball with confidence, weaving past the other players. 20 With only three seconds left, he jumped high and released the ball in a perfect arc. Swish! The ball sailed through the net and the team cheered. All those practices had finally paid off!
