Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

Ming Hua woke up and found himself in an unfamiliar place. He recalled himself trapped in a burning house – the roar of the flames and the crash of the timber filled his eardrums. The smoke was smothering him. He vaguely remembered looking for an exit before blacking out after something hit him. Now everything was quiet. 5

He lifted his head and glanced around the room, marvelling at the sight before him. The room was white and clean. Beds were neatly arranged against the wall. Sluggishly, Ming Hua looked down at his bed. Suddenly, he saw, instead of his own hands lying there on the sheet, a pair of large, bandaged lumps.

Ming Hua cried out in fear. He started to panic. As he struggled to get out of bed, a nurse hurried over. She told him he had been very brave and should continue to be. His hands were burnt and he might be in pain. However, they would heal. She reassured him that his family would be visiting him soon. 10

Ming Hua lay down again, feeling relieved. He sank into a deep sleep. When he awoke again, his mother and grandmother were sitting by his bed. Tears were running down his grandmother's cheeks as she stroked his bandaged arms gently, thanking his lucky stars that he was alive. 15
